God's Promises--Our Inheritance

In the Old Testament God gave His people Israel a promised land. God called it their inheritance. Abraham was the first one God made this promise to, and Abraham came to live in the land. It would be a long time, however, before Abraham's descendants would eventually possess this promised land as their own. And--even though God gave it to them--God's people had to obey God, step up, fight and take the land. God made it possible by helping them every step of the way, but Israel would never have received the promised land for their home had they not moved into it and fought for it.

Now God's people--you and me--have a "land of promises," as Derek Prince said. The promises of God's Word belong to us--given to us but only possessed as we claim them as our own. We must move into our promises, believe God and defeat any spiritual enemy who will oppose us.
